

HERE AND THERE

Gardens are now supplying an abundance of vegetables.

—When in pain use Sloan's liniment and kill it. Sold by Elgin.

Pastures are in fine condition and stock enter the summer in excellent shape.

—You can buy the best grape bag on the market at this office.

*This is "Locust Year," but very few of the pests have as yet put in an appearance.

—Buy your grape bags of us and save money.

Mr. James R. Wood, who has been dangerously ill for several weeks, is thought to be slightly better.

—Leave your work at Hille's Excelsior Laundry.

The crop of extra early peaches seems to have been a short one, as very few have been marketed here.

—Dr. E. N. Fruit, Dentist, office over City Bank, Hopkinsville, Ky.

Caldwell county will have a fair at Princeton this fall. The dates as agreed upon are September 30, October 1 and 2.

—A full line of Sloan's remedies on sale at Elgin's drug store.

The tax rate on Todd county property was raised by the State Board of Equalization to 18 cents on the $100, but has been reduced and now stands at 10 cents.

There has been a rise of seven cents in wheat within the last ten days and the market is expected to open here at about 65 cents.

—WANTED:—Position as teacher by a married gentleman of 15 years experience. Best of reference given. Address, "B," care Kentuckian.

Another rain yesterday again interfered with the wheat harvest. If the weather is at all favorable the cutting will be finished and threshing begun this week.

The camp meeting at Parson's Grove, Logan county, will commence July 23 and last nine days. Rev. J. P. Lowry, the evangelist, of Little Rock, Ark., will conduct the meeting.

The Democratic county committee will meet next Monday and there is some talk that the committee will call in the conventions for the 29th and let the committee itself, at the request of the candidates, decide the nominations.

The Hopkinsville Banner has again changed management. Mr. J. F. Rogers has retired from the journalistic field and in future the paper will be conducted by Mr. L. O. Brumfield, who has been its editor for some time.

Much of our advertising space today is occupied by Sam Frankie, the wide-awake dry goods man, who has inaugurated a cut sale for this week. He offers an array of bargains that cannot fail to impress those who will take the time to examine the figures quoted on all lines of goods.

Next Saturday will be a big day at Crofton. Preparations are being made to entertain one of the largest crowds that ever assembled at that place. The program consists of speech-making, a picnic, brandance, balloon ascension, ball at night, fire works, etc. Hopkinsville will send down a large delegation.

Mr. Joe P. P'Pool has opened a bicycle store at 210 South Main street, next door to the Kentuckian office, and will rent, sell or repair wheels of all kinds. The repair department which is a special feature is in charge of Mr. Thos. J. Walsh, an experienced man in that line. Mr. P'Pool will handle first class wheels and guarantee satisfaction. Read his ad. in another column.

Prof. Jno. H. Wardroper, formerly of Lexington, Ky., has just returned from a trip to Hopkins county, where he has been engaged in a ten days' survey. He came just in time to attend the county school examination, and was awarded a first-class certificate. Mr. Wardroper does not know whether or not he will take a school, as he thinks his engagements as surveyor will take his time. He is a teacher of years of experience and a civil engineer of unquestionable ability, as his work and recommendations will show. He has located with us and is a gentleman of culture and education.

The Modern Beauty

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleansing of a laxative remedy, she uses the gentle and pleasant Syrup of Figs. Made by the California Fig Syrup Company.

DEATHS.

LATRE—Rev. F. T. Latre, who was pastor of the Universalist church in this city a few years ago, died on June 15th at Cadiz, Indiana, after an illness of two weeks' duration. He had but recently accepted a call at Brookline, Ind., but died before he could remove to that place.

STITES—Little Mary Stites, the three-year-old daughter of Dr. F. M. Stites died suddenly Thursday afternoon of last week. She arose for the day in apparently good health but about 10 o'clock was taken sick and died at 3 o'clock. The funeral services were held on the following day. Dr. and Mrs. Stites have the sympathies of many friends in their bereavement.

A Discouragement to Grape Growing

"Don't swallow the grape seeds, for they may get into your vermiform appendix, and death or at least the surgeon's knife, follow." How many times that warning has been sounded in recent years. We have no doubt that it has lessened the use of one of the healthiest fruits under the sun, because few grape eaters, and especially children, will spew out the seeds, even at the risk of appendicitis. So they mustn't have grapes.

Perhaps even less grape vines have been planted as a result of the scare, for scarce it is and nothing else. In thousands of operations which have taken place to remove the diseased appendix in human subject—some of them successful, many of them too late—there is not one authenticated case of any grape or other seed or foreign body being found in the organ. The reason is obvious, for the interior of the appendix is big enough to admit only a medium size darning-needle. It is time, therefore, the public should know the fact that danger from grape seed is absolutely groundless.

Let us not give up planting and urging others to plant the vines, fearing the race's extinction because of grape seeds in the appendix. Swallow the seed if you like, and let the children swallow them. To most persons grapes are not grapes when the pulp is freed from seed.—Vick's Magazine.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, however, it is recommended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Report of The Cosmopolitan's, Commissioner to India.

With the exception of the noted World's Fair number of The Cosmopolitan which reached the price of five dollars a copy after the last edition had been exhausted, no stronger number of this magazine has ever been issued than that for July, 1897. The report of Julian Hawthorne, a special Commissioner sent by The Cosmopolitan to India to investigate the horrors of the plague and famine, is of an extraordinary character and will open the eyes of the world to conditions which were scarcely suspected. The same number contains what is probably the greatest poem of this quarter of the nineteenth century. This new rendering of Omar Khayyam's Rubaiyat, which departs entirely from Fitzgerald's occupies four pages. Amelie Rives reappears as a story-teller for the first time since her marriage with Prince Troubetzkoy. One of the cleverest stories yet from the pen of Robert W. Chambers is given. The remarkable story of the war of the Martians, by Wells, which is attracting the attention both of the scientific and non-scientific good-story-loving public, is continued, and there is a fourth story by a Becket, elaborately illustrated by the humor of Peter Newell. The educational discussion—this time by Professor Peck, of Columbia—the story of "The Every day life of a Sister of Charity," elaborately illustrated: "The Genesis of a Comic Opera," given by Reginald de Koven President Gilman, of the Johns Hopkins University, on "The Bankruptcy of Science," and an interesting story by the Greek who conceived and brought into existence "The Streets of Cairo at the World's Fair"—these are some of the contents of this ten-cent magazine.

In spirit and sentiment the July Ladies' Home Journal is interestingly in accord with that of our National birth-month. An article on "The Greatest Nation on Earth," by William George Jordan, pictures, in a most vivid way, the vastness of the United States, and by simple comparisons and telling illustrations contrasts every phase of our greatness with that of other nations. Allied in patriotic sentiment is "Saved the Declaration of Independence," This tells the story of the heroism of President Madison's wife, who saved the most precious document in America from falling into the hands of the British when Washington was in flames. "The Women's Patriotic Societies" gives the aims and purpose of these organizations and the requisites for membership. "Fifty Years of Postage Stamps" brings to mind that just a half century ago our Government made and sold its first stamps for letter postage.

Now that the English royal family is under review, George W. Smalley's article on "The Personal Side of the Prince of Wales" is timely, as it is interesting, in presenting a close view of the life of the Prince in his everyday life. Edward W. Bok editorially addresses girl graduates, and discusses "Going Away in Summer." An artistic feature of striking interest is Alice Barber Stephens' drawing of the American summer girl, the opening illustration of the number. Published by The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar per year; ten cents per copy.

Kneading Bread All.

An Arkansas editor, hearing that a young lady in New York was kneading bread with her gloves on, said: Oh, this is nothing; we are kneading bread with our boots on; we are kneading it with our pants on; and pretty soon if our subscribers in arrears do not pay up we shall be kneading bread without anything on.

Commissioner's Sale.

Christian Circuit Court, Kentucky. Mary C. McClanahan, Adm'r &c. (AGAINST) JOSEPH McCLANAHAN and others. BY VIRTUE of a judgment and order of sale of the Christian Circuit Court, rendered at the February term thereof, 1897, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door, in Hopkinsville, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public auction, on Monday, July 5th, 1897, at 11 o'clock a. m., or thereabouts, being County Court day, upon a credit of 60 and 24 months the following described property to wit:

A certain body of land situated on the Salem church road about 12 miles south of Hopkinsville, Ky., known as the McClanahan farm, being a part of the old Radford farm and containing 225 acres more or less.

Said farm has a dwelling house, good stables, barns and good fences, is in a good state of cultivation, 17 1/2 acres of cleared land and 50 acres of woods, and adjoins the lands of Geo. Vaughan and Emmett Fields on the South and the lands of Ed. Griffin and W. W. Garrett on the East and the land of E. H. Garrett on the North.

Said lands are being sold for division among the heirs of Mary C. McClanahan, deceased.

For the purchase price, the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or securities, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Replevin Bond. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

WILLIAM T. FOWLER, Master Commissioner.
